ADDITIONAL TASKS FOR THE COMMITTEE ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE :

- Drawing upon previous attempts to implement a separate domestic violence docket, whether to create a separate domestic violence court, which could include specially-trained judges, staff, and court security officers
- How clerks of court may schedule dockets in ways that reduce the number of non-associated people in the courtroom and reduces the time that domestic violence plaintiffs must wait until their cases are called

ADDITIONAL TASKS FOR THE COMMITTEE ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE:

- Mechanisms to ensure orders of protection for survivors are being followed, which could include compliance review hearings in domestic violence cases
- Ways to enhance the physical and emotional safety of survivors when they file domestic violence and stalking petitions, which could include allowing emotional support animals in the courthouse

- Whether to adopt a process for returning firearms in criminal cases, similar to the process for returning firearms in civil protection order cases
- Whether delivery of the petition and any temporary orders in domestic violence and stalking cases can be "fast-tracked" to crisis center advocates so that those advocates can send completed packets of information to the DOVE program and survivors can get the legal assistance they need more quickly

ADDITIONAL TASKS FOR THE COMMITTEE ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE:

- How to more effectively solicit specific information from plaintiffs in domestic violence and stalking cases with regard to the defendant's access to firearms

ADDITIONAL TASKS FOR THE COMMITTEE ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE:

- Whether to create a petition that would allow someone to apply for both a domestic violence protective order and a civil stalking protective order simultaneously
- How to make form petitions for domestic violence and stalking protection orders more user-friendly and directive so that plaintiffs have a better idea of what is required of them in order to obtain those orders
- Whether it is possible to develop a mechanism to notify a survivor of the upcoming expiration of the protective order to include a reminder of the deadline to apply for an extension, if one is desired, without jeopardizing survivor safety
- Whether forms should bear a QR code through which assistance, including translation, is immediately available
- Whether it is possible and appropriate for petitions for domestic violence or stalking orders of protection to be e-filed, given the confidentiality and safety concerns attendant to those cases and the limitations of the current e-filing software
